

A large, textured, reddish-brown brushstroke background that fills most of the frame. The stroke is thick and irregular, with a mottled appearance, suggesting it was created with a dry brush or a similar technique. The color is a deep, earthy red with some darker and lighter variations, giving it a sense of movement and organic form.

KOMAF

aarden in Drenthe